Double-Title Layouts

The main design has two titles per slide.

- A smaller, coloured title to keep track of the main topic and broader section breadcrumbs.
- A larger, black title to serve as heading for the current slide.

Default Layout

This is the default layout: the two titles, and a large content field.

Note that the order of the fields on each slide has been taken into account: with `ctrl + enter`, you can easily skip from the upper to the lower fields.

Write up your slides without touching the mouse!

Two Columns

Here's a two-column layout,
for side-by-side stuff.

The colour used in these slides is 'dark teal', or:

“Velis” is the ablative plural
of the Latin word “velum”, meaning “curtain”.

The graphics on these slides are reminiscent of stage curtains.

Colours

The colour used in this template is linked to “Accent 1” from the current colour palette.

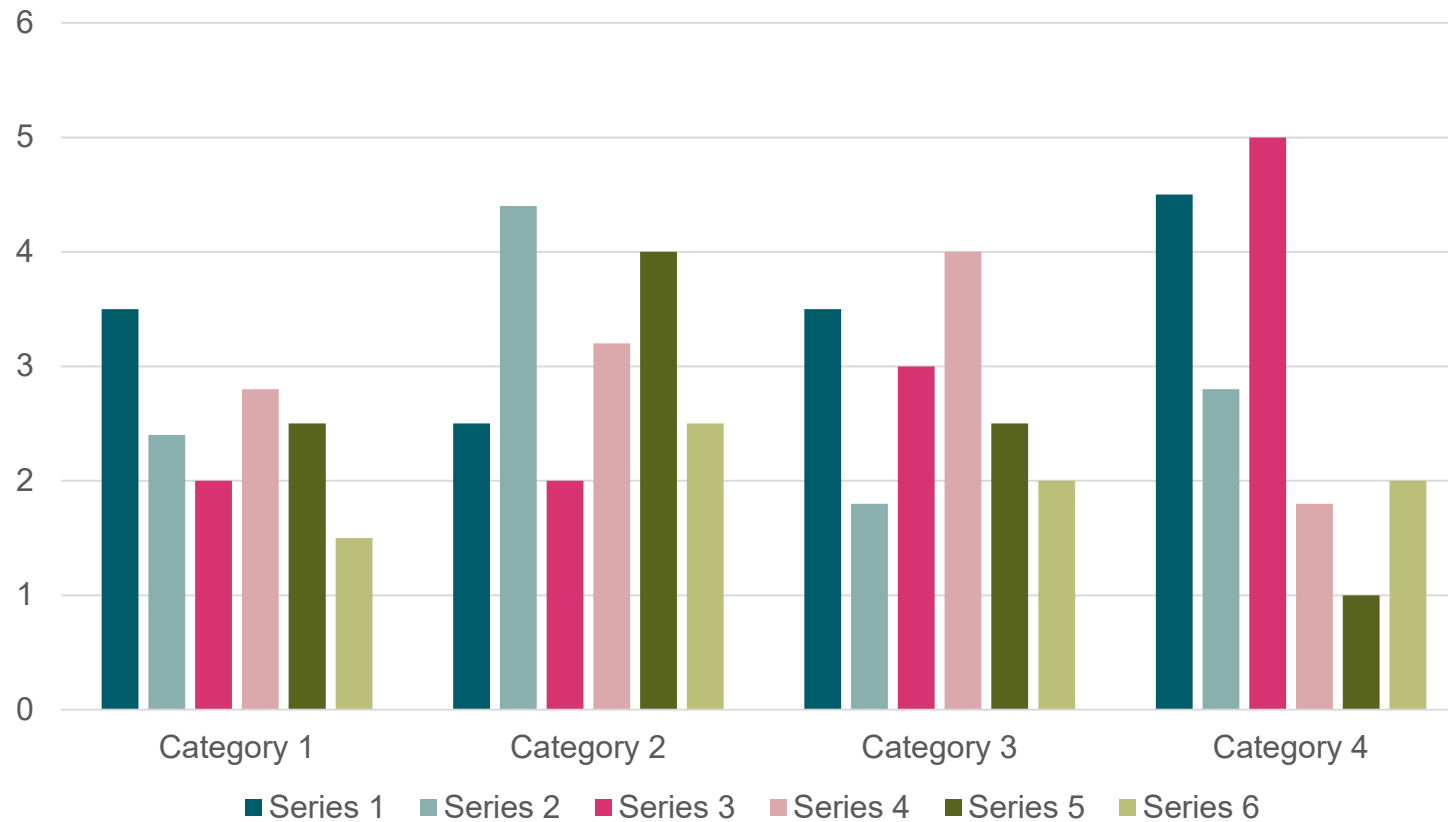

Therefore, simply changing this colour (and, if appropriate, the hyperlink colours, which here have the same colour) will change all theme colours on the slide.

Colour Theme

A further Velis colour theme is included for accents 1-6.

Content with Caption

The content-with-caption layout is a sort of two-column layout meant to showcase graphics with a brief caption.

Zoom or Side-Note Slide

This layout skips the higher-level title to “zoom in” on a particular topic, or address it separately.

Single-Title Layouts

Single-Title Layouts

As mentioned on Slide 3, the main design uses two titles.

The more common single-title design is available too, as illustrated here.

The same layouts are available as for the double-title design.

The following slide is the presentation closing slide.
